

A new story by Roy Bosson in yesterday's Arkansas Democrat reports that Pulaski county is going to bail itself out of the school crisis by increasing property assessments to 25 per cent of true value.

Bosson says Pulaski's current assessing level is around 15 per cent, against a state-wide average of 13.

His story says in part:

"County Judge Campbell cooperating fully in the drive to bring in new revenue for schools, cities and the county from local sources, said that he would be glad to have the school directors nominate men to serve on the equalization board."

"The time is now ripe to do something about assessments because I feel that such a move to support the schools, city and county on a local basis without added state aid now has public support," Judge Campbell said.

"The Arkansas Democrat story points out this significant development in Pulaski:

Tax Assessor Bruce Huddleston has, thanks to the demands of school boards, been given additional appropriations for extra help in the business of locating property and putting it on the tax books."

One of the first results was the discovery of a plot of ground inside the Little Rock city limits still listed as acreage and assessed for only $2,500. It was raised to $26,500.

What's going on in Little Rock is paralleled in Hope and every other Arkansas city. It isn't a case of newly-discovered civic consciousness, patriotism, or anything else that's voluntary—it's sheer necessity.

The schools have to have money. Local property assessments furnish most of that money in practically every state. But assessment reform has been delayed in Arkansas just as often as we could find some more politically comfortable alternative.

The defeat of the proposal to increase the sales tax has finally brought us to this showdown—and now there will be action.

Here in our own county:

School men should insist on a strict and literal interpretation of the tax assessor's oath of office, and demand that the county government make a special appropriation to hire additional help for the assessor.

If the equalization board doesn't come up with satisfactory review figures then the board should be removed, a new one named—and the figures worked over a second time.

Enactment of Senate Bill No. 10 in the 1951 special session of the legislature gives great authority—and responsibility—to the county equalization board. It's worth your while to read this new law. Here it is:

S. B. No. 10

Section 1. The equalization board of any county, on petition of the County Judge, or on its own motion, shall, at any time after adjournment of its regular meeting and before the first Monday in October next following such adjournment, convene in special session for the purpose (1) of completing its work of equalization of property assessments; and (2) for the purpose of reviewing or extending its work of equalization of property assessments; and, for that purpose, said board shall be vested and charged with all the powers and duties with which such board is vested and charged when meeting in regular session and, in addition, said board shall be empowered to employ qualified appraisers, abstractors or other persons needed, to appraise properties which the board may need in the discharge of its duties.

Crime Probers Hurl Charges at O'Dwyer

Washington, May 1 —(AP)— Senate crime investigators today accused Ambassador William O'Dwyer of contributing to the growth of organized crime in New York City, where they said underworld kingpin Frank Costello is a power in Democratic politics.

O'Dwyer was New York's mayor from 1946 until last fall when President Truman appointed him ambassador to Mexico. From 1940 to 1942 O'Dwyer was district attorney of Kings county (Brooklyn). Referring to O'Dwyer's tenure both as mayor and district attorney, the crime committee had this to say in its year-long probe of gangsterism:

"Neither he nor his appointees took any effective action against the top echelons of the gambling, narcotics, water-front, murder or bookmaking rackets. In fact, his actions impeded promising investigations of such rackets."

The crime probers, headed by Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.), also said O'Dwyer had named to his public office friends of Costello and Joe Adonis, another big-time racketeer and gambler.

The report, rushed to completion late last night, asked congress for a batch of laws aimed at throttling the nation's big crime and gambling syndicates by cutting the profits out from under them.

They recommended legislation to outlaw transmission across state lines of information for illegal gambling, to prohibit illegal gambling losses or expenses from being deducted for income tax purposes, to deny use of the mails or other interstate communications to make or pay off bets, to punish the interstate transmission of punchboards, roulette wheels and other gaming devices and to require gambling casinos to keep detailed records of money won and lost.

With a reminder that "money is the key to power in the underworld," the committee also called for tougher tax laws and penalties to trip up gangsters, including requirements for full records of income and expenses and statements of "net worth."

The committee said the primary responsibility for cleaning up the underworld rests with state and local officials.

The senators said they found this corruption and connivance at all levels of government—federal, state and local.

Besides reporting its general conclusions from the evidence uncovered and urged specific legislation to strike at interstate crime, the committee recounted what it found in 14 cities have come under its scrutiny.

The committee termed "simply of credible" testimony given by Democratic Gov. Forrest Smith of Missouri about conversations he had with Charles Binaggio, slain Kansas City gambler and political leader.

Before he was shot down in April 1950, the committee said, Binaggio was generally conceded to be a central figure in Kansas City gambling circles and also able to control "an important segment" of the city's Democratic vote.

The committee said that although Binaggio supported Smith in the 1948 governor's race and hoped to "open up" Kansas City, there was "no substantial evidence" that Smith made any commitment to Binaggio or that Binaggio succeeded in opening up the city.

The committee, however, added this comment: "It is inconceivable that Governor Smith, being an experienced politician, could have failed to know of Binaggio's background, or that Binaggio expected a quid pro quo something in return for his support."

"Smith's assertions under oath that he did not discuss politics with Binaggio, or discuss Binaggio's expectations, are simply not credible."

Its Not Long Joe Before You Join the Parade—to the God You Don't Believe in

By HAL BOYLE

New York — (AP)— An open letter to Joseph Stalin, care of the Kremlin, Moscow:

Dear Mr. Stalin:

As one Joe to another, I am just writing to wish you a happy May day. This is supposed to be an international holiday for the working man, and us fellows in the third squad kind of wonder how you are celebrating it.

You guys in the Kremlin knock off early today to watch the big parade. And afterward I'll bet you'll be hip-deep in caviar and vodka. Pretty nice, Joe, you got in made. That's the way for a working man to live. You've become the poor man's rich man in Russia.

Too bad you can't be with us here in Korea. We've have a parade also. But it's a noisy parade, and just means more work for us.

That's enough to make a guy see red, and boy are we seeing red. Nothing but red—Red Chinese. They organized this May day parade, and it's one big bloody mess.

It's in your honor, Joe, and in the villages north of the your propaganda agents are busy again pasting up your picture on every house door. The liberated Koreans are cheering for you—atgun point.

This parade is the third one your boys have organized to throw us out of Korea. It's the bloodiest one so far, but much as we hate to mess up your party we don't think the parade is going to get all the way down to Pusan.

We'll give you one thing, Joe. Your parades are hard to break up. But your poor Chinese marchers don't have much choice. They have our guns in front of them—and your guns behind them to keep them from turning and running for home.

Being Reds is no fun for those poor peasants. Red is the color of life, Joe, but for them red is also the color of death. We kill so many of them that sometimes we have to pull back because our guns are too hot to fire anymore.

At your age, Joe, you should be ashamed of playing with puppets. Live puppets at that. Why don't you call off your little puppet show, and play at a big game called peace?

The funny thing about your May day parade is that the working men in Korea don't like it. They don't want it. And most of them aren't staying to watch your festival. They're leaving their homes to fall back with us. Why? Because they don't believe in either your parades or your promises. They don't think you remember what it is to be an honest working man.

Korea is a lovely land right now, Joe. The wild flowers are coming out in the hills, the rice plants are greening in the wet paddies. But your big Red parade is ruining the land.

Why don't you call it off, Joe? Why don't you give the real working men of the world a break instead of just another empty promise?

You're getting up in years, old man. You don't have much time left. Soon you're going to have to start a final solitary parade of your own—to the God you don't believe in.

You don't want to start that last March alone with your hands still wet with the Red life shed by working men you always said you wanted to help, do you?

See you at parade rest, Joe. It won't be much longer.

Parking Meter Collection Drops

For the first time since installation a week's parking meter take in Hope fell below $400. However, this was attributed to work on several city streets which blocks sections containing meters. Last week's collection totaled $393.50. The average runs well over $400.

British-Owned Wells in Iran Nationalized

Tehran, Iran, May 1 — (AP)— Iran nationalized its giant British-owned oil industry—the world's fourth largest producer—last night, but Premier Mohammed Mossadegh gave little indication how he planned to effect the forced takeover or run the $500,000,000 industry.

The senate unanimously and on schedule ratified the seizure of the Anglo-Iranian Oil company, sole developer of the rich felders in this strategic southern neighbor of the Soviet Union.

The nationalization, already approved by the majlis lower house of parliament, becomes effective on promulgation by Shah Mohammad. Continued on Page Two

Live Wolf Brought in by Trapper

A live wolf trapped in the old Southwestern Proving Ground was brought into town today by Game and Fish Commission trappers and created quite a stir. It was a small wolf and was captured in a steel trap.

Allies Cling to Seoul, Chinese Shift Attack

Tokyo, May 1 —(AP)— Communist troops preparing for a new attack in central Korea today cut off the water supply for rivers blocking their invasion route.

The Han river dropped so sharply that United Nations engineers had to adjust pontoon bridges three times Tuesday.

An Allied spokesman said the Chinese closed the sluice gates to the Hwachon dam in an effort to dry up the Pukhan and Han rivers. That would make it easier for Red assault forces to cross.

Censors prevented correspondents from saying how much the river had fallen.

Simultaneously the Reds shifted their forces to the central front after massed Allied artillery, naval guns and record swarms of planes disrupted their plans for a May day assault on Seoul.

AL Correspondent Nat Polowetzky described the buildup of Red forces along the Chunchon-Hongchon invasion route as ominous.

United Nations artillery roared out Tuesday night in an effort to break up some of the Red concentrations on this old central Korean battlefield.

A heavily censored dispatch from Polowetzky said American artillery broke up two small concentrations. One was southeast of Rodong Chunchon. The other was north of Hongchon, to which the U. S. First Marine Division pulled back recently from Hwachon reservoir.

There were no reports of ground action of any size on May day other than on the central front or in the west near Seoul, where the Reds had hoped to celebrate their international holiday.

Three Allied tank columns probed northeast of Seoul Tuesday morning in an unsuccessful hunt for Reds. Only a few were killed in the motor vehicle where dead Chinese were seen Monday. Reds had removed or buried their dead during the night.

A censored dispatch from AP Correspondent George MacArthur said U. N. commanders estimated the main body of Reds still in the west was staying far enough north to keep out of range of devastating American artillery.

Waiting Period Assured Air Force Recruits

Young men desiring enlistment in the U. S. Air Force are now assured a minimum waiting period, Sgt. Short, Army and Air Force recruiter for this area, said today.

He explained that during the past few months a very small quota had been allotted the station due to the limited training facilities available to the Air Force. This situation has now been largely corrected, and although enlistments are still controlled by a very strict quota, young men interested in this branch of the service can usually be enlisted within a few days after their initial application is made at the local recruiting installation.

Sgt. Short urged anyone in this area who is considering an enlistment in the USAF to make application before graduation of the local high schools. He said that after graduation there is always more applicants than can be accepted, an ability year which probably be no exception to the rule.

The qualifications needed for enlistment in the Air Force are given here for the information of interested young men. Applicants must be between the ages of 17 and 24; be in good physical condition; have no police record; and be able to pass the Armed Forces Classification Tests. To speed up processing at the local station they should also have their birth certificate in their possession when they apply.

The Army and Air Force Recruiting Station for Hempstead and Nevada counties is located in Room 105 of the City Hall Building. Office hours are from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. each week day of phone 1423-M after 5 p. m.

Reds Denied Big May Day Prize in Korea Fight

London, May 1 — (AP)— Communist and anti-Red workers in Asia and Europe staged rival May day peace parades today, but in Seoul, an United Nations air raid and sea barrage denied China Reds the celebration they planned for Seoul.

In divided Berlin, in Paris, in many other cities the Korean limiters and those opposing the Reds the celebration they planned for Seoul.

In Korea, where Communist armies had hoped to celebrate the international holiday with a victory into the battered old capital of South Korea, Allied fire appeared to be forcing the Reds to shift their offensive toward the center of the peninsula.

Paris was stagnated by a United Nations holiday. Minor clashes were reported in West Berlin and some 150 Communists were arrested. Otherwise there was no early reports of violence.

In Moscow, for what was expected to be the biggest May day celebration, Generalissimo Stalin made one of his rare public appearances. The Soviet Union's victor joined over 100,000 demonstrators in a parade in the city's center.

Hands of Russians waving guns calling for "peace."

In Berlin, a pro-western third of 800,000 marched in the parade. Republic leaders spoke from a mile away in the Russian capital. A half million more marched in mass meetings under Communist banners. Except for brief snafus, there was no violence.

Flot squads were alerted in China, where a huge Red parade was to be followed by smaller Communist protests. Last night some 10,000 Vietnamese youth marched through the city, chanting "We don't want the American war."

May day matches and rallies also were planned in other European countries, including Spain. The Netherlands had no parade.

In Geneva, Swiss Reds and Reds were in demand for or their flag. Down with long live peace among players of the world.

In the American capital, leftist demonstrators ranged which were country-wide. Many of the demonstrators were young men.

Many of the demonstrators were young men. Many of the demonstrators were young men.

Southwest Publisher Holds Annual Dinner for Arkansas Lawmakers in Washington

By HOWARD BUTLER

Washington, May 1 — The lively of good fellowship was combined with a serious discussion of domestic and world problems here Monday night as C. E. Palmer, publisher of Arkansas Palmer news, papers, and Mrs. Palmer staged their fifteenth annual dinner in honor of distinguished Arkansians in Washington.

Keynote of the serious discussion was sounded by Palmer himself, who declared Arkansas "has the finest delegation in congress" and took cognizance of the efforts of Senators John L. McClellan and J. William Fulbright to raise the standard of ethical conduct among public officials.

"I've never seen a time," he declared, "when business ethics were higher than now. And it is my opinion that ethics in government have never been so low."

Senator Fulbright is chairman of a banking and currency subcommittee investigating charges of "improper influence" in RFC loans. And outgrowth of the investigation is the so-called Fulbright resolution, creating a 10-member commission to draft a code of ethics for conduct of public officials.

Senator McClellan is chairman of the executive expenditures committee, a subcommittee of which is investigating charges that federal jobs have been sold in Mississippi by persons purporting to represent the Truman administration.

MacArthur not argued. Because the delegation is divided over the extent to which Douglas-MacArthur may be "right or wrong" in his position in the military situation in the Orient, the round-table discussion which followed dinner, MacArthur, who has been in the Orient since his last residence, was born in Arkansas.

The attending were generally agreed, however, that the current investigation into reasons for removal by President Truman of General MacArthur from his commands in the Pacific is designed to bring out facts which will enable the United States to carry a wise course in the world conflict with communism.

Sen. L. B. Smith, Pigott, senate secretary and a 40-year veteran of the Washington scene, concurred with Palmer concerning the failure of statesmanship in the Arkansas delegation.

"I don't think our state has been better represented in congress than it is today," Smith declared, "and the congressional delegation from Arkansas is a disgrace."

Rep. Mary Manning, Benton, declared, "The Arkansas delegation is a disgrace. It is a disgrace to the state of Arkansas. It is a disgrace to the United States. It is a disgrace to the world."

HIT WITH G.I.'S—Carole Sten, New York singer and actress, G.I.'s in Korea after she posed like this for a picture that appeared in Stars and Stripes, service newspaper. All of which proves that the G.I.'s know what they like.

Texas Association of Chamber of Commerce executives, was subjected to a bit of kidding about the current Texarkana postmaster controversy.

Boales Attend Party. Fulbright and Tuckett engaged in a friendly verbal joust over whether the senate or the house would be the first to pass legislation designed to "settle" the Texarkana controversy. The senate postoffice and civil service committee has recommended confirmation of Arthur Jennings, a Texan, as the Texarkana postmaster.

Fulbright and Tuckett are authors of pending legislation to alternate the two-state office between Texas and Arkansas.

The Arkansas legislators present, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer with a handsome "travel clock," Rep. Wilbur Mills, Kentsett, noted the time and said:

"Gosh, it's almost 11 o'clock. That's past my bedtime." But its only 9 p. m. down in "God's country," Harris reminded his colleague.

Included among guests, in addition to Arkansas senators, congressmen and their wives, were W. L. Beale, chief of the Washington Associated Press bureau; Mrs. Beale, and A. K. Helms, Texarkana business leader.

Rep. Wright Patman, Texas and Mrs. Patman sent regrets. The conflicting Texas Chamber of Commerce dinner required their presence.

Britain Took No Part in Far East Command. Little Rock, May 1.—(AP)— British offered suggestions about the selection of withdrawal of the United Nations commander in the Far East, her ambassador said.

Sir Oliver Franks, British envoy to the United States, visited this city yesterday to address a Chamber of Commerce luncheon in his honor.

Sir Oliver declined both during a question and answer period following his speech and at a news conference, to discuss domestic problems of either the United States or Britain.

The arrival of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the U. S. prompted Sir Oliver to make a connection between the diplomat and the general, declaring that the British government had left the matter up to President Truman.

Sir Oliver said he thought the American and British views on Communism in China would be harmonized in the future.

In explaining his country's refusal to recognize China's Red government, Sir Oliver said Britain wanted to give the Chinese an outlet other than a path of Moscow. The action also was on the basis of fact, said the ambassador.

He said it was important that each country understand the views of the other in solving questions of disagreement on China. The United States has refused to recognize the Communists as the legitimate government of China, and instead recognizes the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek.

The ambassador pointed to the fact that the United States had refused to recognize the Communists as the legitimate government of China, and instead recognizes the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek.

med Rosa Pahlavi. He has no veto power. "Traitor God, Iran has regressed her rights!" shouted Mossadeq, leader of the minority nationalist group which with the aid of widespread terrorism pushed the nationalization through parliament and seated Mossadeq in the premier's chair yesterday.

Regarding future operation of the company, which supplies the bulk of the British navy's oil, the premier said only that an 11-man board created by the act will serve at first only in a supervisory capacity, not as actual managers.

"The company (Anglo Iranian) is now working in our behalf," he declared.

Presumably negotiations will be necessary to work out an arrangement for any British interception of the properties under Iranian supervision. In London the British government, which owns 51 per cent of Anglo-Iranian, and officials of the company anxiously studied the situation. British Ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd was expected to confer soon with Mossadeq concerning future discussions.

Britain has protested to the Iranian government that the nationalization and cancellation of

Rose Festival

Little Rock, May 1.—(AP)— Television Station WMC-TV of Memphis will film the Little Rock rose festival parade Saturday. It was announced last night.

Franklin E. Loy, chairman of the Rose festival committee, said arrangements have been made with the station and that other events of the festival also may be filmed.

Loy explained that direct programming from Little Rock to the Memphis station is impossible because there is not cable between the two cities.

The Rose festival gets underway Thursday and continues through Saturday.

Screen Star Dan Dailey will make public appearances during the ceremonies.

Britain's oil concession violates international law. Though the 44 senators present finally voted unanimously, several attacked the bill as being hastily and vaguely drafted. Criticism was leveled only by an impassioned appeal from the new premier.

The nationalization law provides for an 11-man board — five elected from each parliamentary house and the finance minister — to take immediate control of the Anglo-Iranian company and work out plans for a national oil company.

Senate Group

Recommends New Laws

Washington, May 1.—(AP)— The senate crime committee today made 22 specific recommendations for new legislation. Boiled down to bare essentials, they would provide:

1. A continuing check by congress, for a limited period, on organized crime and federal law enforcement efforts.

2. A new racket squad in the justice department.

3. A federal crime commission of three members to keep an eye on organized crime, maintain federal-state liaison and suggest further legislation.

4. A continuing check of income tax returns of all known criminals by the newly established fraud squad in the internal revenue bureau.

5. Enforcement of regulations which require taxpayers to keep adequate records, especially in the case of criminals who the committee said "are continually floating them."

6. Maintenance of daily records by gambling casinos, including records of individual wagers in casinos in states where such gambling is illegal.

Heaviest damage came in the central section of the city. The Oklahoma Sash and Door Company office building and warehouse splintered by the strong circular winds.

An auto wash concern and drug store reported damage to their roofs.

Timony he finds essential.

19. Service by publication of process on persons who evade personal service.

20. Laws to prevent racketeers' interests from entering the industry and to eliminate any in it.

21. A change in liquor law require that all "beneficial" be listed on federal pay and that applicants disclose previous arrests and conviction.

HADACOL Relieves The Cause of Stomach Distress, Aches and Pains, Weak, Run-Down Conditions,

Poor Appetite and Nervousness When Due to a Deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron

E. A. Drumright, 313 Main St., Nashville, Tenn., says this about

HADACOL: "I feel I should write you and tell you what HADACOL has done for me. I was run-down and not able to work and had no ambition. All I wanted to do was sleep. I took HADACOL and now I have a good appetite, and sleep good. I can recommend HADACOL to anyone in a run-down condition. I am 68 years old and have taken six bottles."

HADACOL is so economical—only $1.95 for trial size.

Mrs. Leola Fitzpatrick, 401 E. Elm St., Scottsdale, Ky., "I couldn't sleep. I didn't want to say a few words about HADACOL. I can't praise it enough for what it has done for my little seven-year-old girl. She was weak and pale, and did not eat very much. So I decided to try HADACOL. Now, she eats more and has a better color and has gained weight. My friends and neighbors all are talking about her looking so much better. I can't say much that now I'm up and ready and anxious to get my work done and am not tired, but am able to do my housework. I cannot praise HADACOL and its makers enough."

Mrs. Thelma Fanning, Francisco, Cal., says about her daughter, Norine: "I just want to say a few words about HADACOL. I can't praise it enough for what it has done for my little seven-year-old girl. She was weak and pale, and did not eat very much. So I decided to try HADACOL. Now, she eats more and has a better color and has gained weight. My friends and neighbors all are talking about her looking so much better. I can't say much that now I'm up and ready and anxious to get my work done and am not tired, but am able to do my housework. I cannot praise HADACOL and its makers enough."

Mrs. Anna M. Dehendorf, 631 E. Pope St., St. Louis 15, Mo.: "I have been taking HADACOL for six months, and feel fine again. I am 60 years old, and do housework, laundry by the day for different parties, and I also do baby sitting in the evening. Before I started taking HADACOL, I was underweight—I only weighed 85 pounds. Now my weight is 121 pounds. I eat good, sleep good, and feel good."

Mrs. Walter Shields, Hornsbyville, Pa., says about her young son: "I have a little boy who had stomach distress every time he went riding in a car. Nothing did him any good. I heard about HADACOL and have given him two bottles. He doesn't suffer from stomach any more. I started taking HADACOL, and now my weight is 121 pounds. I eat good, sleep good, and feel good."

Mrs. Joe Bukowski, 221 Sanborn St., Orem, Utah: "Before I started taking HADACOL, I was nearly unable to do my housework. I was weak, nervous, didn't sleep, and had a bad appetite. Now I have a good appetite, and sleep good. I can recommend HADACOL to anyone in a run-down condition. I am 68 years old and have taken six bottles."

Mrs. Ardella Longaker, Rt. 5, Meadowbrook Rd., North Kansas City, Mo.: "I am a minister's wife and am 39 years old. Two years ago I had an operation and just had a hard time getting back my energy. I was run-down, lost weight, and had no appetite at all. I'm on my fifth bottle now and am amazed at the results. I want to eat all the time now. Most of all, I'm glad to say, I've gained several pounds. HADACOL is so economical I believe almost anyone can afford it, and I do recommend it to my friends."

Frank W. Woche, 531 Apache, Houston, Texas: "I was so run-down and my son-in-law suggested I take HADACOL. I had lost lots of weight and was tired all the time. After the first small bottle I started feeling better right away. I have now taken four more large bottles and wouldn't be without HADACOL. HADACOL has done so much for me. It's wonderful and all of my friends saw how bad I was looking and now tell me how much better I look. I can't say enough for HADACOL."

Mrs. LaRue Unshes, Saurwein, Illinois: "My son Gary is four years old, and will be five in July. His grandfather, Mr. J. W. Simmons, who lives with us, was taking HADACOL and it helped him. We had been having so much trouble getting Gary to eat. It seemed as if he would take the entire family to coax him to eat. After we started giving him HADACOL his appetite picked up right away. He will eat three hearty meals a day, gets up in the morning all set for a big breakfast. HADACOL has certainly helped Gary's appetite."

Mrs. J. E. Roberts, 1516 Little Rock, Ark.: "I am a mother with five children and with all my housework I was a run-down and just couldn't seem to eat at all. I heard about HADACOL and decided to try it, to see if it would help me. I could tell from the first bottle that it was helping me. I started eating right away—my appetite picked up a lot. After I took three more bottles of HADACOL, and really believe HADACOL is a good product, it has certainly helped me."

Miss Onetha White, 1709 Buena Vista, Alexandria, La.: "I am years old and have lived in Alexandria all my life. I am employed by a canning company. A year ago I was nervous, and run-down, and I lost my appetite and couldn't sleep. A friend told me about HADACOL and I decided to try it. I have been taking one bottle a week for a year and I can report wonderful results. I am gaining weight, my nerves are OK, I have a good appetite and I sleep nights again. One bottle of HADACOL to all who have ailments."

Mrs. Margaret Gordon, 113 Fern St., St. Charles, S. Cal.: "I didn't have the energy to do anything, and I couldn't sleep at night. I had gas pains all the time. So many friends told me how it had helped them, so I decided to try HADACOL. I have taken three bottles, and am on my fourth bottle. I can't express my gladness for all that it has done for me. Now, I can sleep well at night, and I work. I praise HADACOL very much. I will not do without HADACOL any more. It has done wonders for me. I can eat anything I wish now, and it doesn't hurt me any more. I am 26 years of age."

greater proportion of savings to live up to the story and match prewar experience.

In prewar 1941, however, $77 of the average $952 income was saved life, insurance payments or mortgage reduction payments count as savings; and $375 spent — 807 of it going into "durable" goods like autos and appliances and $608 going for nondurable like food and clothing, plus amusement and services.

In the second quarter of 1950, savings dropped to $60 although the income average rose to $781. Spending came to $701, with $400 laid out for durable goods and $603 for nondurables, amusements and services.

In first quarter 1950, although the rash buying wave had pretty much passed and income was up to $765, only $59 was saved. The $718 spent was divided like this: $118 for durables, $604 for nondurable, amusements and services.

In "real" terms, in 1941, Americans on the average saved 12 per cent of their income; just before Korea, saving was off to 7.9 per cent; this year, it dipped to 7.7 per cent.

As to why the yen to spend has increased since the war, here's a clue from the economist:

"Income gains have been great among these wageless groups in recent years that in the higher income groups, which means more of the extra attention money has been moving to people most likely to use it for buying more or better quality goods and indulging in more services, if not more amusements."

Congressman Brehm Is Convicted

Washington, May 1.—(AP)—Republican Rep. Walter E. Brehm, of Ohio, a five-term member of Congress, was convicted last night of receiving $1,000 in unlawful political contributions.

After deliberating four hours and 18 minutes, federal courtmen of 10 men and two women found the 58-year-old Ohioan guilty on five counts involving $1,000 in contributions from Mrs. Emma S. Craven while she worked for him in 1948.

The maximum sentence that could be imposed is 15 years in prison and a $25,000 fine. But maximum penalties seldom are imposed.

Brehm was convicted of breaking a law that forbids congressmen to accept political gifts from persons on the federal payroll.

Brehm's lawyer, Leo A. Robert, told reporters he will ask for a new trial. Failing that, he said, he will appeal the case to higher courts.

The tall, heavy-set congressman was pale, but showed no emotion when Judge Foreman B. Rich and Brehm, a restaurant operator, announced the verdict in an almost empty courtroom.

Both facing the jury, both hands jammed deep in the pockets of his double-breasted suit coat.

The jury acquitted Brehm on one count which alleged he received a $140 campaign contribution in early 1941 from Mrs. Clara Soliday, a 74-year-old widow who

U. N. Is Considering Plan to Slap a Limited Embargo on War Materials to China

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The ability of the Chinese Communists to stage their massive offensive against the United Nations forces in Korea has stimulated a day a limited embargo on essential war materials for China.

Such a measure, blocked by the way, was one of the General Douglas MacArthur's recommendations for him for three years.

Last week, Judge Burnita A. Matthews threw out still another count which accused Brehm of taking a $240 political donation from Mora Soliday in December 1947. Judge Matthews found that the alleged contribution occurred too long a time before the indictment was returned.

Judge Matthews said not to impose until the motion for a new trial is ruled on.

He permitted Brehm to remain free in the $1,000 bond he posted after his indictment in December.

Although convicted of a federal offense, Brehm does not automatically lose his seat in Congress from Ohio's 17th district. Only the house itself can oust one of its members.

"I haven't a word to say," the congressman told reporters after the verdict was announced.

dations on which he said the joint chiefs of staff agreed with him. It would, of course, be calculated to have far-reaching effects on China's ability to wage war.

Coincident with this U. N. development, General MacArthur has been urging a "positive and realistic" Korea policy "to stop through strength his slaughter of America's sons."

The United States already has clamped a sweeping embargo on Peking, and is causing among other western members of the U. N. to follow suit. Some of them, notably Britain and France, have been finding difficulties in taking such drastic action, owing to their great commitments in the Far East.

However, while proceeding with caution, Britain already has inaugurated the licensing of rubber shipments from May 1 to prevent the Communist countries from stockpiling vital war material.

So far as concerns U. N. sanctions, Britain doesn't feel that the time has arrived for them, although she agrees that they should be studied.

The British point out that their position is affected by their commonwealth members and obligations in the Far East. They prefer to discuss such an important matter with other members of the commonwealth before taking drastic steps.

India, which is a member of the commonwealth, is a case in hand, she is a great sanction on China.

ther obvious reason is that she lies up against Red China which might be expected to try to force her neighbor into the Communist fold in due course. New Delhi doesn't feel like challenging Red China at this juncture.

Pakistan, Brind Sh. Malaya, Ceylon, Singapore, and the crown colonies of Hong Kong are among other places in the picture. Naturally, trade figures in the picture, but so do the defensive importance of strategic bases like Singapore and Hong Kong. And the Chinese Reds are right up against the border of Hong Kong.

Britain takes the attitude that she doesn't want to embark on such a project as the embargo unless it can be made effective. She feels that the good offices committee of the U. N. should try to persuade Red China to stop fighting.

The trouble with such a program is that American, British, French and other U. N. soldiers will be sacrificing their lives while "persuasion" is tried. Even if sanctions are voted by the U. N., it will take some time before they can be made effective.

The great need now is for speed.

FIRE DESTROYS CAFES
Forrest City, May 1.—(AP)—Fire destroyed two Negro cafes and a Negro cafe-pool hall here last night.

One fireman, Lee Brunette, was overcome by smoke in the three-hour fight but quickly recovered. Fire Chief Roy L. Meals said the fire apparently erupted in the rear of one of the cafes and spread rapidly under a high wind. He was unable to estimate the damage.

The nuthatch builds its nest in the decayed trunks of trees, so the young may eat the insects that flourish in this habitat.

in such positive action as would be represented in the application of sanctions.

Mississippi Girl Wins Sixth Lion Oil Scholarship

PATRICIA FOY, 17-YEAR-OLD JUNIOR AT CLARKSDALE HIGH SCHOOL, AWARDED $1,000, ONE-YEAR COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP

For on Friday the 13th of April, her 17th birthday, Pat received the most joyous surprise of her life. Says the modest and popular Pat, "I'm the luckiest girl in Mississippi!"

OTHER WINNERS IN SIXTH CONTEST

Teacher: Miss Ethyl Oates Miller, Sylvia's English teacher, received $50 for sponsoring the third-price essay.

Other honors descended on Pat's head when Don Lomnick, president of the Clarksdale High School Band, crowned Pat as Band Queen in the city auditorium in March. Pat is band majorette and secretary-treasurer of the band—and is an excellent student, as well.

Just what the doctor ordered! Pat was recovering from an operation when she heard the good news on Friday the 13th. Here she is congratulated by Mayor Kinchen O'Keefe.

"Clarksdale will win a Lion Oil scholarship yet!" Now, Principal Smith's vow has been realized. Above are Virginia McDaniel, a winner in the Third Contest, Pat, Superintendent of Schools H. B. Heidelberg, Miss Thrash, Mr. Smith and Miss Sue Watkins, who sponsored Pat's first essay.
